Career & Opportunities

Nowadays opportunities in Fine arts are rapidly growing. Fine Arts students develop their creative skills, practical knowledge, and imagination skills. Fine Arts students have plenty of options to choose from in terms of their career. One can choose from areas like:

Art Therapist, Multimedia Programmer, Production Artist, Flash Animator, Archeologists, 3D Artist, Animator, Sculpture Artist, Fashion Designer, Architect, Cartoonist

Some of the jobs roles in different area are as follow:

■ Creative Director:

A creative director is in charge of the creative department at advertising and marketing companies. Their duties include planning company advertisements, monitoring brand campaigns, revising presentations, and shaping brand standards.

■ Art Director:

While a creative director provides the conceptual idea behind the project, the art director executes the details. Once the concept is out on the table, art directors are responsible for heading up their teams and creating the aesthetic of the piece. They see the project through the phases of production, edits and final execution. Art directors rely on their technical skills to help a team get the job done.

■ Graphic Designer:

Graphic designers create visual concepts, using computer software or by hand, to communicate ideas that inspire, inform, and captivate consumers. They develop the overall layout and production design for applications such as advertisements, brochures, magazines, and reports.

■ Art Teacher:

Art teachers instruct students how to produce, appreciate, and understand the fine arts. Like teachers in other fields, they develop teaching outlines and lesson plans, give lectures, facilitate discussions and activities, keep class attendance records, assign homework, and evaluate student progress.

■ Editor:

An art editor writes about art and supervises others who produce content related to the arts. People with the title of art editor may write about local exhibits for newspapers or create a website for a museum. Art editors must possess a broad knowledge of art and good written communication skills.
